Can I have an update please. Surely, you've been able to speak to Shirona by now ...

Shirona Gunawardhana • 8:28 PM

Following is the update Mr. Gunawardhana provided.

"I talked to MK leadership. They did not like the tone of communication. These folks are former Blackrock, Vanguard and State Street or affiliated power players. Just because they can, they will just litigate and delay the process spending more than what is owed. $100K is not much for them to spend on legal. My suggestion is to be strategic. I have a meeting with them on 19th on a deal that I am working in Canada. If this matter is not solved after my meeting I maybe able to pay from another company. Then I will work with them to get reimbursed."

██████████, I am sorry things did not turn the way we all wanted it to be. This whole deal was based on fear and doubt not trust. At least according to you, you were on a high level conversation to get funded from another source. Your portion will be returned to you in a timely manner. We just have to work on some logistics on our end. Have your partners also send an invoice for their portion to MK. Keep our communications via printed mail."

"[REDACTED], you are trying do something via [REDACTED] still. I have promised MK guys I will stay out of this deal. So, unless you do exactly as I say we cannot proceed. I am trying to pay your amount (paid via [REDACTED] to you (not [REDACTED])). As I indicated to you before please provide me an invoice with your banking info (not [REDACTED]) by postal mail so that I can expedite that process."

Shirona,
Now that you have received, please can you settle the sum?

You going silent is so frustrating ... didn't you say you will at least reimburse this much till the rest is sorted? This is a huge part of my life savings though it maybe small in the US context and it hurts so much. Please please can you settle as promised?

after receiving it, I still don't hear from you ... please don't do this ...

Shirona Gunawardhana • 9:39 PM

Sir, this is not the best place to communicate with Mr. Shirona about your business deals. It is social media managed by a marketing company. Per our understanding you were instructed to communicate via mail and in due time your concerns will be addressed.
